Unparalleled Success

JAMES N. CANDLER,

FROM THE PRESIDENT OF ASHBURY COLLEGE

DOVER, N. H., Sept. 1, 1849.

I GIVE MY own case of CHERRY PECTORAL. It has cured me of a cough that has troubled me for years, and which I thought would end in consumption. I have also used it in my family for the croup, and in all cases it has proved a safe and speedy remedy. I believe it to be the best medicine for the relief of children that can be obtained, and I cheerfully recommend it to all parents. If my opinion as to its superior excellence can be of any service, you are at liberty to use it. EDWARD HITCHCOCK

Amherst, Sept. 12, 1849.

A number of other distinguished names might be mentioned, but the above will suffice. Confidence in the preparation, as the best known to allay the sufferings and dangers, and

VAYER'S

CHERRY PECTORAL

For the Cure of

COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, BRONCHITIS, WHOOPING-COUGH CROUP, ASTHMA, AND CONSUMPTION.

"And by the river, upon the bank thereof, shall grow all trees for meat, whose leaf shall not fade, and the fruit thereof shall be for meat, and the leaf thereof for medicine."

Here was hope for the sick recorded long ago, and every year adds new proof to the assurance that it is no promise empty of truth.

As medicine after medicine discovers and declares the wonders its nature and virtues, one by one, the diseases that afflict our race yield to the control of art. Of the many that we suffer from, none are more terrible than the fatal maladies that seize upon the throat and lungs, and fasten upon the springs of life. Science has now, by long and laborious research, found a remedy for these complaints, which, if not infallible, is certainly the most effectual that has ever been known. Hundreds of apparently hopeless cases have been cured by it, and thousands who were pronounced by their physicians to be in the first stages of consumption, and whose friends looked upon them as doomed, have been restored to health and vigor by the use of this remedy. Indeed, so wonderful are its effects, that many have been led to suppose it must possess supernatural virtues. But it is not a miracle that we record, when we say that the Cherry Pectoral will cure the most obstinate cough, heal the most distressing wound of the throat or lungs, and arrest the most alarming disease of the pulmonary organs, if taken in time and in reasonable doses. Nor is it a miracle that we declare, when we say that no one who will take the medicine according to the directions, and keep the system in ordinary health, while using it, need fear any of the consequences of pulmonary disease.

Such a remedy is surely needed. Go where we will, throughout the world, we find the air filled with the breath of pestilence, and the graves of the victims of consumption are filled with the loved and the lovely. Parents, husbands, wives, children, mourn over the ravages of this fell destroyer of our race, and turn in vain for help to the medicines which have been given to the world as infallible remedies for its cure. Many of these have been found to contain the seeds of death, and in place of curing the disease, have hurried the victim to the grave. Others, although containing no poisonous ingredients, have been so nauseous to the taste, and so injurious to the stomach, that the sufferer has preferred to endure the disease rather than the remedy. Such is not the character of the Cherry Pectoral. It is as pleasant to the taste as the most delicious fruit, and may be taken by the most delicate babe or woman with perfect safety and with the certainty of relief. Let no one, therefore, who is afflicted with a cough, cold, hoarseness, bronchitis, whooping-cough, croup, asthma, or any disease of the throat or lungs, neglect to procure this remedy. Let no one who has a child, or friend, or neighbor afflicted with any of these diseases, neglect to urge upon them the necessity of giving it a fair trial. We do not hesitate to say that it is the best medicine ever offered to the afflicted, and that it will cure them if anything can. Keep it by you, and when the first symptoms of disease appear, do not wait for the public announcement of your danger, but apply the remedy at once, and thus prevent the fatal consequences that will follow.

THE ROAD TO HEALTH

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.

CURE OF A DISORDERED LIVER AND BAD DIGESTION.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. R. W. Kirkus, Chemist, Prescot Street, Liverpool, dated 6th June, 1851.

To Professor Holloway.

Sir,—Your Pills and Ointment have stood the test of a considerable trial in Professional Medicine for some years. A customer, to whom I can refer for any inquiries, desires me to let you know the great relief of her case. She had been troubled for years with a disordered liver, and bad digestion. On the last occasion, however, the virulence of the attack was so alarming, and the inflammation set in so severely, that double doses of calomel had no effect to bring about the usual termination; she was induced to try your Pills, and she continues that after the first and each succeeding dose, she felt great relief. She continued to take them, and although she used only three boxes of each, she now has the enjoyment of perfect health. I could have sent you many more cases but the above from the severity of the attack, and the great cure I think, speaks much in favor of your astonishing Pills.

I am, Sir, R. W. KIRKUS.

AN EXTRAORDINARY CURE OF RHEUMATIC FEVER, IN VAN DIEMEN'S LAND.

Copy of a Letter inserted in the Hobart Town Courier, of the 1st March, 1851, by Mary Welch, Margaret M'Cunnigan, mustress, years of age, a black of New Town, had been suffering from a rheumatic fever for upwards of two months, which had entirely deprived her of the use of her limbs. During this period she was under the care of the most eminent medical men, but all their skill proved unavailing, and she was considered incurable. A friend prevailed upon her to try Holloway's Pills, which in a very short time restored her to perfect health.

CURE OF A PAIN AND FRETFULNESS IN THE CHEST AND STOMACH OF A PERSON AT SEA AGED 70 YEARS.

From Messrs. Shew & Son, Proprietors of the Lynn Advertiser, to Professor Holloway.

Sir,—Having been induced to try your Pills, we feel it our duty to inform you of the benefit we have derived from their use. We had been troubled for a long time with a pain in the chest and stomach, which was also accompanied by much difficulty of breathing, that prevented our getting a sound night's rest. We were induced to try your Pills, which we continued to take for a short time, and found relief. We have since recommended them to many persons, and have never known them fail in giving satisfaction. We have also given them to our children, and find them to be a safe and excellent medicine for the disorders of children. We are, Sir, your obedient servants, SHEW & SON.

WHITE ZINC PAINT,

After thorough test in Europe and the United States, has been found to retain its beauty and preference of utility longer than any other paint—For whiteness and brilliancy it is unrivaled; it is free from all poisonous properties as cream and dangerous in other pigments, will cover, equal weight, from 40 to 100 per cent more space than lead, and is, therefore, much cheaper to the consumer. As an inside paint, it will not turn yellow, even when exposed to the dull heavy gases of coal fires or the forfeit of ships. Their White Zinc ground in varnish produces the porcelain finish—Their

The Hunting of the Hind.

Spring is coming—Spring is coming!
With her sunshine and her showers;
Heaven is singing with the singing
Of the birds in brake and bower.
Buds are filling, leaves are swelling,
Flowers on field and bloom on tree
O'er the earth and air, and ocean,
Nature holds her jubilee.
See then stealing, comes a feeling
O'er my bosom tenderly;
Sweet I ponder as I wander,
For my musings are of Thee.

Spring is coming—Spring is coming!
With her mornings fresh and bright;
With her noon of changeless gloom;
Sky of blue and clouds of white;
Calm, grey nightfalls, when the dew falls,
From the star-bespangled sky,
While the splendor, pale and tender,
Of the young moon gleams on high.
Still at morn, at noon, and even,
Spring is full of joy for me,
For I ponder, as I wander,
And my musings are of Thee.

Still on Thee my thoughts are dwelling,
Whatsoe'er thy name may be;
Beautiful, beyond words telling,
Is thy presence unto me.
Morning's breaking finds me waking,
Wandering in the fragrant light;
Noontide's glory meets me for Thee;
In a shower of sunny light;
Daylight dying, leaves me lying
In the silvery twilight ray;
Stars look brightly on Thee nightly,
Till the coming of the day.

Everywhere and every minute,
Feel I near Thee, lovely one!
In the lark and in the linnet:
I can hear thy joyous tone.
Bud and blooming mark the coming
Of thy feet o'er vale and hill,
And thy presence with life's essence
Makes the forest heart to thrill.
Low before Thee, I adore Thee,
Love Creating, Thee I sing;
Now I meet Thee, and I greet Thee
By the holy name of Spring.

Old Fogyism and Young America.

What is an old fogie, pa?" "Why do you ask my son?" "Because Mr. Shallowpate and Capt. Sly, and others were talking at the store last night, when one of them called you a d—— old fogie. Is it wicked to be that thing, father?" An honest country man was in town the other day, and attracted the attention of a gentleman by the singularity of his behavior. It was on the day time, otherwise our observer would have suspected him of dishonest intentions, and summoned the police. No he was innocent of that and all other kind of roguery. His object on investigation turned out, like as we were told, to set eyes on an old fogie. He had been informed, it seems, that some of them might be seen at a certain place; where they were in the habit of assembling; it might be the City Hall, an Insurance office, or a Bank, we don't remember the locality; so he was detected watching for the promised to catch the sight of one of these old creatures on its coming out.

Now this boy and this man are evidently in a considerable fog as to the sort of people these categories really are. We rather think this dullness of apprehension prevails extensively. Some appear to imagine, perhaps this is the general idea, that there is something about an old fogie which betrays his character at once; just as men who have never seen, at least personified to mind, such a creature, that he does not possess some limbs or upper organs, which other men have not. The man who met King George the Third coming in a morning from an early visit to his cow house, and undoubtedly caught a new idea. Others suppose that the individuals we are examining is grey or bald personages. But members of the house have informed us lately that he is frequently not even old. What, an old fogie not even old? What, then, in the name of Abrahamic Clocks, and human progress, is he then? An old fogie cannot be a young man, surely? Yes, he is, though just as an old goose may yet not be 21. An old fogie is one, who does not hate all things because they are old, nor love new things because they are new. If any matter has been tried and found to succeed, it is not on that account to be rejected; and none but an old fogie would invest his property or opinions in any institution now existing; but will put all his by, and his country's hopes and expectations in schemes of the latest fashion, which have never yet been made the subject of experiment. An old fogie has a grappet for the accumulated wisdom of the past; loves old friends; thinks there is something in the poetry and philosophy of the ancients. In the proverbs of Solomon, and the words of the wise Hillel. Then you think that old fogyism depends little upon age? Nothing at all, nor sex neither. A young lady, who takes a liking to a rich old gentleman, or loves old diamonds, old family plate, or old lace, is a terrible old fogie.

Have you ever fallen in with any of those creatures, they call "Young America?" Hear their projects and conversation, they are generally taken to be hardly 21 yet; is that correct? Nothing more out of the way you may believe. Why, "Young America" is as old as anything there is going, if not older, just as what is called the "New World," is supposed by philosophers to be the most ancient on the globe. Men trembling under the weight of years and the infirmities of gout, and rheumatism are among its recruits. They are all old enough to have their eye teeth cut and worn out too.—Some think they have become so old as to have become a good deal dual to reason, and from the necessity of using spectacles, that some objects appear unnaturally magnified and distorted through them.

The difference, however, between an old fogy and "Young America," is not so much in the outer as the inner man. They do not look unlike; but when one hears their talk, the similarity vanishes. Their voices are no more like, than Esau and Jacob. Young America is very doubtful whether his father knows as much as he; could in question the propositions of Euclid as out of date, and reserves his entire faith for the sanguine prophecies of Hegel and school. Young America considers one of a dashing young fellow, just starting up in business with prospects as magnificent as the illusive perspective of his store; but becomes a contempt before the fresco of its walls are stranded. Yet his failure does not operate as a warning to others. The rags of broken adventurers, are all always here with us, as well as the poor. He lives in perpetual fever, has an ambition grasping for shadows as white as his own, and on the long pole which needs to be studied by handling "the spoil." Young America never has an Eden without sour fruit, neither but keeps looking over the fence and says it is worse than it was before. Not the little property of young Napoleon of letters and of boys. He has a liberty that reaches from here to Hungary, unchequered with an eye, to see er, which never overlooks his own dear interests. Young America has the propensity common to all infants, of a desire to take possession of all it sees, and to swallowall it can manage to take hold of. Buchhere is not time to mention all the qualities of the young Hercules, which the present times have littered; indeed they are but imperfectly developed. Nobody knows now, whether he is destined to strangle a serpent or pat a sudden end to himself. In the mean time if any one desires to know more about this class of persons, he may read in the world at random. And finally hones tout "carefully for ha ir in the world of manners, what Young America is to that of politics.—Newark Daily Advertiser.

The Japanese Expedition.

The effort of the administration to effect intercourse with the Japanese, so far at least as to enable steamships to procure supplies of coal at Japan, and which it would seem should meet with the approval of the whole country, and the entire commercial world, seems to have met opposition on the part of certain of the loco leaders and papers. This opposition is not based upon any of the real intentions of the administration, or with their avowed or intended methods of conducting their negociations. But suspicions are started that the matter is to partake of a warlike demonstration, and that the matter will be carried too far. These pure minded, peacebly disposed very conservative loco leaders do not like the idea that a Whig President and Cabinet should undertake and successfully carry through this peaceful commercial enterprize in addition to their other successes, and therefore the Fire Eaters become lamb-like and sensitively tender, and faint at the very show of a gun, and go into contraption fits in fear that it will go off and shoot somebody, even if it aint loaded.

The Belfast Journal in its late issue has expended nearly two mortal columns in what amounts in fact to the grossest misrepresentations of the objects of the expedition, and the means by which it is expected to accomplish the objects.

We know not how far such attacks will go to mislead the public mind, or how far they accord with what the Journal and its party may deem political morality, but to us they seem to partake of the character of fraud and rascality.

We have previously given a view of this subject in connection with the letter of the President, and we now publish Mr. Webster's letter of instructions to Commodore Aulick.

Department of State,
Washington, June 10th, 1851.

Commodore John H. Aulick,—Sir:—The moment is near when the last link in the chain of oceanic steam navigation is to be formed. From China and the East Indies to Egypt, thence through the Mediterranean and Atlantic ocean to England, thence again to our happy shores and other parts of this great continent, from our own ports to the southernmost part of the isthmus, that connects the two western continents, and from the Pacific coast north and southward as far as civilization has spread, the steamers of other nations and our own carry intelligence, the wealth of the world, and thousands of travellers.

It is the President's opinion that steps should be taken at once to enable our enterprising merchants to supply the last link in that great chain, which unites all nations of the world, by the early establishment of a line of steamers from California to China. In order to facilitate this enterprize, it is desirable that we should obtain from the emperor of Japan permission to purchase from his subjects the necessary supplies of coal, which our steamers in their out and inward voyages may require. The well known jealousy with which the Japanese Empire has for the last two centuries rejected all overtures from other nations to open its ports to their vessels, embarrasses all new attempts to change the exclusive policy of this country.

The interests of commerce and, even those of humanity, demand, however, that we should make another appeal to the sovereign of that country, in asking him to aid, to our steamers—not the manufacturers of his artizans or the results of the toil of his husbandmen—but a gift of Providence, deposited by the Creator of all things in the depths of the Japanese Islands, for the benefit of the human family.

By the President's direction, I now transmit to you a letter to the Emperor of Japan, (with an open copy,) which you are to carry to Yeddo and deliver to the Emperor or such of his officers as he may appoint for the purpose of receiving it. To them you will explain the main object of your visit.

Mineral coal is so abundant in Japan that the government of that country can have no reasonable objection to supplying our steamers at fair prices, with that great necessary of commerce. One of the eastern ports of Niphon would be the most desirable place for this purpose. Should, however, the government of Japan persist, in following out its system of exclusiveness, you might perhaps, induce them to consent to the transportation of the coal by their own vessels, to a neighboring island, easy of access, where the steamers could supply their wants avoiding thus the necessity of all intercourse with any large number of the people of the country.

It is considered important that you avail yourself of every occasion to impress on those Japanese officers with whom you will be brought in contact, that the government of the United States does not possess any power over the religion of its own citizens, and that there is therefore, no cause to apprehend, that it will interfere with the religion of other countries.

The President, although fully aware of the great reluctance hitherto shown by the Japanese government to enter into treaty stipulations with any foreign nation—a feeling which is sincerely wished you may be able to overcome—has thought it proper in anticipation of this last favorable contingency, to invest you with full power to negociate and conclude a treaty of amity and commerce between the United States and the Empire of Japan.

Herewith is handed you the letter of the President, which you are to deliver in person, and a transcript of which you will also receive, as well as copies of the treaty between the United States and China, with Siam and Muscat, which may to a certain extent be of use to you, as precedents. It is important that you should secure to our vessels the right to enter one or more of the ports of Japan, and there to dispose of their cargoes, either by sale or by barter, without being subjected to extravagant port charges; and even more important is it that the government of Japan should bind itself to protect American sailors and property which may be cast on their shores. The second article of our treaty with Siam embraces these objects.

Every treaty has to be subjected to the Senate for ratification, as you are aware. In consideration of the great distance between the two countries, and unforeseen difficulties, it would be prudent should you succeed in effecting the object proposed, to fix the period for the exchange of the ratification at three years.

I am, sir, respectfully, your obedient servant,
DANIEL WEBSTER.

☞ Some of the loco papers in view of the probabilities of Gen. Scott, being the Whig presidential candidate, have been talking about a "hasty plate of soup." If they are not careful, they will cause the campaign to be distinguished for its soap dishes. The wooden bowl makers in this section of the country will be driven with work to supply the demand for soup dishes, and every political convention will be supplied with them. The people are not to be put off with dish upon their candidates, as the campaign of 1840 fully proves. The sarcasms of the loco leaders ahead of this campaign. The people would not and will not frock the principle of their heroes and leaders, their standard bearers and patriots.

☞ The Boston Journal of Friday evening states that at one o'clock, on Thursday last, ladies and gentlemen from Bangor, Maine, and Boston, were introduced to Kossuth by Lieut. Governor Cushman. A purse of $100, the proceeds of a levee at Bangor, was presented to Kossuth, $150 having been previously invested in Hungarian bonds. Kossuth in returning the money said that it should be faithfully applied to the object most near all heart, the independence of Hungary.

☞ Gov. Kossuth delivered a great speech at Faneuil Hall on Thursday evening, which we shall publish to-morrow. He takes ground in favor of making the intervention question an element in the approaching presidential election. To-day Gov. Kossuth is to visit Bunker Hill, and there deliver an address.

In the course of the week he will visit Lowell, Manchester, Providence, and other places.

☞ Our lady readers are particularly referred to our advertising columns for interesting intelligence, touching the matter of rich fabrics, for their use and adornment. The Dry Goods merchants of our city were never more skillful or pains taking or successful in the selection of beautiful patterns in the purchase of goods upon terms which will enable them to sell at uncommonly low prices.

☞ Professor Fowler, of Amherst, Mass., sailed from New York in the Devonshire for Europe, to pursue his investigations of the language in Great Britain and on the Continent. He has received a commission from the Massachusetts Board of Agriculture to visit the Agricultural Schools, and collect evidence of that branch of culture.

☞ The French rogues do not remove one side of a silver coin with a very thin file and put out the silver in the middle, fill it up with baser metal, solder on the surface again, and leave the piece looking as before! The fraud was first detected at the Bank of France. The deterioration of the coins thus altered is about seven-tenths.

Fire at Hallowell.

On Friday last the Iron Foundry of W. R. Prentiss at Hallowell was burned down. Loss $4,000. Insured the N. England Co., Portland, $2,000; Atlantic, Providence, $1,000.

☞ An effort, largely, of Republicans, on an appeal to arrest a negro man in the name of Jenkins, an alleged fugitive slave at Columbia, Pa., on the 4th inst upon the spot. Jenkins and his wife ran away at first. The officer pursued, and the negro turned and said he would go with him to take his trial for murder.

☞ Gov. Kossuth and exiled Hungarians were greeted in Boston on Friday evening with a grand torch light procession. Gov. Kossuth spoke for nearly two and a half hours.

☞ The steamer Eastern State has changed her day of sailing from Boston, and will leave that city on Thursday, and arrive here on Friday.

☞ The boxes for gathering in the stones of marriage will in less than twenty-five become obsolete in Maine. Folks going to be married get married when they please, and we hope they will please to do so without unnecessary delay. They have only to purchase a certificate of the city or town clerk and be married at once. Parsons and Minors are the exceptions.

☞ The Michigan Democratic State Convention held at Detroit, April 28th, adopted resolutions of resolutions which endorse the platforms of 1840 and 1848, dodge the Compromise measures, and instruct delegates to Baltimore to urge the nomination of General Cass. Only three delegates were appointed. Great harmony prevailed.

☞ The weather on May morning was delightfully pleasant, and the people, young and old, were highly gratified at the numerous festivals and pleasant social parties which came off. The distribution of plants at the Green Houses was very general.

☞ Horace Bonney, the notorious counterfeiter, who made his escape from the jail in Augusta a few weeks since, was re-captured by Sheriff Bodfish last week, and is again in jail. He was found in Palermo.

☞ The annual meeting for the choice of officers of the Penobscot Mutual Fire Insurance Company takes place at their office at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

☞ The weather has been bright and windy for a few days, which is precisely what is wanted to prepare the soil for the plough.

☞ A severe frost has been experienced in various parts of Alabama. At Montgomery and vicinity it was of sufficient severity to kill the young cotton.

☞ Real estate is on the rise in this city.

☞ Rafts of new lumber begin to make their appearance in our river.

☞ The liquor law continues to be enforced in Portland.

☞ We give our thanks to Mr Haines of Winslow & Co's Express for papers received on Saturday in advance of the mail.

☞ Thanks to Hodgman & Co's Express for papers received on Saturday in advance of the mail.

CONGRESS.

Washington, April 29.

Senate. After the presentation of petitions, Mr Rusk reported back, to the Senate, with some amends, the bill creating a Board of Commissioners to settle claims growing out of the conquest of Florida.

On motion of Mr Walker, the bill granting to the State of Wisconsin the right of way and land through the public from Fond du Lac to Janesville was taken up. Mr Walker proposed various amendments, making it conformable to previous grants, which were agreed to, and the bill was then ordered to be engrossed.

The Deficiency bill was then taken up, and Mr Pearce, of Md., occupied the time in discussing the merits of the bill until the Senate adjourned.

House. Mr. Gorman asked the consent of the House to report a bill to settle the account of Capt Ide, who has been detained here for some months for that purpose.

Mr. Ashe objected.

On motion of Mr. Barry, the Speaker was authorized to appoint an additional member to the committee on enrolled bills.

Mr. Jones, of Tenn., moved that the House go into Committee of the Whole on the homestead bill. Agreed to, and the House resumed consideration of the bill.

Mr. Watkins, of Md., spoke at length on the Whig and compromise resolutions, &c., without finishing the bill before the House.

Mr. Lewis, of Penn., followed in favor of the bill, and indulged in glowing eulogy upon the manufacturing interests which would flow from the measure.

Mr. Mann followed, also in favor of the bill. When he had closed the Committee rose and reported the bill, leaving the question the House adjourned.

FIFTY SEALING VESSELS IN PERIL.—Loss or Life.—The steamer Osprey has arrived at St. John, N. F., April 23d, and has arrived with accounts of the wreck of fifty-four sail of vessels in the ice in the Gulf on the 20th. The Newfoundland papers state that as yet the loss of life has been considerable, how great is not known. A list of eighteen vessels with full cargoes of seals, is given, and one half five of her crew drowned, is another. In many cases, as the vessels drifted in the ice, the crew deserted them and reached the shore. In some cases the abandoned vessels have been taken into port.

Hundreds of the crews of the wrecked vessels are on Richard Island, Bonavista Bay, in a state of destitution and starvation. The Governor of Newfoundland has requested the Legislature to appropriate £300 for their relief. Five vessels would seal to them as soon as the ice would permit. A vessel had arrived at St. John, which reported that upwards of one thousand shipwrecked sealers had reached Greenford, but the number is probably exaggerated.

The disaster is said to be nearly equal to that at Prince Edward Island last year.

The New Burmese War in the East Indies.—The British Expedition against Burmah consisted of 6000 troops, two ships of war, and thirteen steamers. Additional forces from China were expected. The departure of the expedition was to take place from Calcutta and Madras on the 19th March. The troops were to rendezvous at the mouth of the Casse of the eastern branch of the Irrawaddy. The expedition would probably proceed up the latter branch to avoid the resistance provided on the route by Zangoon, where 20,000 Burmese troops were assembled. The British forces had orders to advance to Prome. Parties of Burmese had ravaged the frontier villages.

Boston, April 30th.

Money continues easy, with flattering prospects of a further reduction in rates. The best business paper in the market readily passes at six per cent, and Demand loans with solid collaterals are negotiated with facility at the same rate. Railroad paper sells quick at 8, being one per cent less than the going rate for the past month.
